If we were all responsible for everything that happened to everybody we'd had anything to do with, it would be very awkward, wouldn't it		As they stare guiltily and dumbfounded, the curtain falls
We are member of one body. We are responsible for each other		It's my duty to ask quest! don't come into this suicide business
You mustn't try to build up a kind of wall between us and that girl		This young woman, Eva Smith, was a bit out of the ordinary
"a man has to mind his own business and look after himself and his own"		The point is, you don't seem to have learnt anything
But these girls aren't cheap labour - they're people		You see, we have to share something. If there's nothing else, we'll have to share out guilt
so long as we behave ourselves, don't get into the police court or start a scandal - eh		There are millions and millions and millions of Eva Smiths and John Smiths
She'd had a lot to say - far too much - so she had to go		Nothing but morbid curiosit
Probably a Socialist or some sort of crank	ibility	The famous younger generation who know it all
I rather respect you more than I've ever done before		The Germans don't want war. ... Everything to lose and nothing to gain by war
But you weren't asked to come here to talk to me about my responsibilities	usq	Unsinkable, absolutely unsinkable
First, the girl herself. ... Secondly, I blame the young man who was the father of the child... He should be made an example of		I don't come into this suicide business
Why should you do any protesting? It was you who turned the girl out in the first place		Between us we drove that girl to commit suicide
I wasn't in love with her or anything - but I liked her - she was pretty and a good sport		Yes, I think it was simply a piece of gross impertinence
